Master of Arts in African and African Diaspora Studies

The M.A. degree in African and African Diaspora Studies provides interdisciplinary, graduate level education that draws on AADS core faculty, as well as on faculty from a variety of Departments in the College of Arts and Sciences (English, Modern Languages, Politics and International Relations, Global and Sociocultural Studies, History) and other Colleges within the university. This M.A. program aims to develop scholars with specific skills, research methodologies, principles, and knowledge which simultaneously prepares graduate students for professional positions in a range of fields and for further study at the Ph.D. level. The Program should attract those who are interested in subjects as diverse as—non exhaustively—national and transnational policy analysis, cultural studies, international relations with and within continental Africa, African and African diaspora gender constructs and sexualities, African and African diaspora literatures, the history and contemporary experiences of descendants of Africans in the United States, pre-national, national, transnational, and post-national processes such as pre-colonial African history, the Trans-Atlantic slave trade, the movement of “returnees” to what is today’s Liberia, Ghana and Ethiopia, European colonization of Africa, the Caribbean contributions to the “black movement” in the United States, Panafricanism, the Caribbean presence in colonial Africa, the Caribbean migration to the U.K. in the mid-20th century, Caribbean popular culture and cultural politics, the processes of creolization in the Caribbean and beyond, the struggle of Afro-Latinos for the recognition of their collective rights in different national contexts, the migration of Eastern Africans to Australia, the current migration of Central Africans to South Africa, the Asian diasporas in Eastern and Southern Africa, the migration of Western Africans to France, Spain, Italy, and Germany, and the escape of Sudanese “ethnic Africans” from Darfur to Chad. All students who enroll in this M.A. Program will be exposed to the diversity of approaches, conceptualizations and interventions in the many debates that characterize the field, developed by a diversity of scholars based in different locations around the world.

Admission Requirements

Each applicant to the African and African Diaspora Studies Graduate Program must complete an online graduate application form and arrange to send transcripts of all prior college (undergraduate and graduate) work and official reports of the Graduate Records Exam (GRE) and TOEFL (if applicable) to the FIU's Office of Graduate Admissions. Each applicant should also send a separate letter of application to the director of the African and African Diaspora Studies Graduate Programs, along with copies of the above material. The letter of application should include a statement expressing the applicant's academic and professional objectives. Applicants are strongly encouraged to include examples of academic or other relevant professional work that may support their application. Applicants must request two letters of recommendation from professors able to comment on their academic ability. The letters of recommendation should be sent directly to the Director of the African and African Diaspora Studies Graduate Program.

The application file must be complete before the African and African Diaspora Studies Graduate Committee will consider the applicant for admission. The deadline for receipt of application--including all supporting materials and letters of recommendation--is February 1st. To be admitted into the African and African Diaspora Studies Graduate Program a student must meet the University's graduate admission requirements, which can be found in Florida International University's Graduate Catalog and the following minimum standards:

1. Applicants must have a baccalaureate degree from an accredited college or university.
2. Applicants must have an undergraduate grade point average (GPA) of 3.0 or higher and a combined score of 1050 or higher on the verbal and quantitative sections of the Graduate Record Examination (GRE). Applicants must submit both grade transcripts and GRE scores for consideration. The student must also have a GPA of 3.5 on any previous graduate work.
3. Applicants should request that two letters of recommendation from individuals able to judge a student's academic potential be sent directly to the Director of the African and African Diaspora Studies Graduate Program. For the exact street address, please consult our website at <http://africana.fiu.edu>.
4. Applicants are encouraged to submit examples of written work and other supporting materials.
5. International graduate student applicants whose native language is not English are required to submit a score for the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) or for the International English Language Testing System (IELTS). A total score of 80 on the iBT TOEFL or 6.5 overall on the IELTS is required.

Financial Aid

Each academic year a limited number of graduate students are hired as graduate assistants. Graduate assistantships are allocated on a competitive basis and typically pay a substantial portion of tuition expenses and provide a stipend. To be considered for an assistantship the applicant must make such a request in writing to the Director of AADS Graduate Programs. The Graduate Program Committee will make the awarding of teaching assistantships. Students receiving an assistantship are required to perform approximately 20 hours of teaching and research related duties per week and are required to participate in a one-hour seminar related to teaching.

Graduation Requirements

Candidates must obtain a grade of "B" or higher in all courses and achieve a cumulative point average of at least 3.0 (based on a 4.0 scale) and present a satisfactory research paper, research proposal or thesis.

Thesis Option

In the case in which a student elects the thesis option, he or she will have to compose a thesis committee (three members) with at least two AADS graduate faculty members. The thesis committee chairperson or thesis advisor must be chosen from the list of AADS graduate faculty. The thesis committee will guide the student through successful completion of the thesis and will approve, after a public oral defense, its final draft as acceptable before it is sent to the University Graduate School.

Thesis research is usually performed during the first summer of enrollment in the program. The thesis will have 75 pages or more and will be written following one of the scholarly citation styles admitted in the disciplines. The selection of the citation style must be made with the thesis advisor.

Research Paper/Proposal Option

If a student elects the research paper or research proposal option, he or she must compose a research paper/proposal committee (three members) with at least two AADS graduate faculty members. The student will work closely with the chairperson of the research paper/proposal committee, who must be chosen from the list of AADS graduate faculty. The submission of the final draft subsequently to the other members of the committee will logically follow the completion of the required course, "Advanced Seminar in African and African Diaspora Studies," which will typically be taken during the student's second summer of enrollment (if he or she is a full time student who began the M.A. program in a fall semester).

The FIU faculty eligible to serve on a thesis or research paper/proposal committee are the faculty members who have achieved graduate faculty standing as established by the University Graduate School. Other non-FIU faculty not identified in that list may be considered to serve on a committee based on research, identified interest, and publications after approval from the Director of AADS Academic Programs and upon approval of the Dean of the University Graduate School.

At least one High Pass must be received. Language requirements vary, according to the concentration fields. In cases where the dissertation will be in the history of US or English-speaking countries, one language plus the quantitative skill is sufficient. In Latin American history, either Spanish or Portuguese, and a second language appropriate to the student's field are required. Language exams will be graded on a High Pass, Pass, and Fail basis; a High pass is required in the student's primary language. Students should check with the Department's Director of Graduate Studies to determine which languages are appropriate for their program of studies.

Comprehensive Examinations and the Dissertation

Following completion of all course work, satisfaction of language requirements, and the constitution of a dissertation committee, students will be required to pass a written and an oral comprehensive examination. After the completion of their comprehensive examinations and the approval of a dissertation proposal by their dissertation committee, students will write a doctoral dissertation. The time needed for the research and writing of dissertations in History is variable, although doctoral candidates normally spend one year engaged in continuous field research and a second year in full-time writing.

Restrictions

1. The grade of "B" or better is required for graduate credit.
2. At the end of the second semester of residence, or upon completion of the first 18 credit-hours of work, the Graduate Committee will examine and evaluate

3. No more than 6 semester-hours of Topics (5935) courses toward meeting the degree requirements, without permission of the Director of Graduate Studies.
4. No more than 6 semester-hours of HIS 5908 (Independent Study) toward meeting the degree requirements, without permission of the Director of Graduate Studies.

MA in African and African Diaspora Studies/Ph.D. in International Relations Combined Degree Program

The combined African and African Diaspora Studies M.A./International Relations Ph.D. program allows qualified graduate students to pursue both degrees at the same time.

Admission Requirements

To be accepted into this program, students must simultaneously submit applications for the M.A. in African and African Diaspora Studies and the Ph.D. in International Relations by January 15 in the year in which they wish to begin their studies.

To be considered for admission, students must meet the following requirements:

1. Minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.2 in undergraduate work.
2. Minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.5 in any prior graduate work.
3. Minimum score of 1120 in the Graduate Record Exam (GRE).
4. International graduate student applicants whose native language is not English are required to submit a score for the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) or for the International English Language Testing System (IELTS). A total score of 90 on the iBT TOEFL (equivalent to 575 on the paper-based version, or 232 on the computer-based version of the Test of English as a Foreign Language) is required.

Applicants must follow the admission procedures for both programs (see the appropriate sections in this graduate catalog). Only applications to begin studies in the fall semester will be considered. This new designation will appear in the menu of programs in the graduate application, and students must indicate their intention to apply for this combined program.

Each applicant must complete an online graduate application form and arrange to send transcripts of all prior college (undergraduate and graduate) work and official reports of the Graduate Records Exam (GRE) and TOEFL (if applicable) to FIU's Office of Graduate Admissions.

Each applicant should also submit a separate statement of purpose, along with copies of the above material. The letter of application should include a statement expressing the applicant's academic and professional objectives. Applicants must include writing samples and other relevant professional work that may support their applications. Applicants must request three letters of recommendation from university professors who are able to comment on the various aspects of the student's academic ability. The letters of recommendation should be sent directly to the Director of the African and African Diaspora Studies Graduate Programs. AADS will photocopy the recommendation letters once they are all in and send them to the Graduate Program Director of the International Relations department.

The application file must be complete before the African and African Diaspora Studies/International Relations Graduate Program Committees will consider the applicant for admission. We encourage applicants to send their application material sooner.

Required Credits

Students must fulfill the requirements for both programs. The 36 credits for the M.A. in AADS earned by students will count toward the 75 credits required for the Ph.D. in INR.

Prescribed Required Courses and Other Requirements

In addition to the requirements for the two degrees, during their first two years of enrollment in this combined degree program, students will enroll in the following course which fulfills the African and African Diaspora Studies M.A. methods requirement:

INR 5615 Research Design

The following International Relations courses will also be taken by African and African Diaspora Studies M.A. students during the first two years of the program and will count toward the M.A.:

INR 5609 Contemporary Dynamics of International Relations

INR 6706 Political Economy of International Relations

Language Requirement

Students must demonstrate proficiency in a language other than English according to the nature of their thesis or research paper/proposal and professional interests. The Director of AADS Graduate Programs will ask a university faculty member fluent in the language of interest to the student, to evaluate the student's fluency by asking her/him to summarize or synthesize the content of a text of between 10 to 20 pages, published in that language, in no more than one page. That exercise will have to take place at the university during a limited period of time. The text will be given to the student at the beginning of the exercise. The chosen text will have some connection to the student's research interest. Once a student has demonstrated proficiency for the M.A. in African and African Diaspora Studies that proficiency will be recognized by the International Relations Ph.D. program. Therefore, proficiency in a foreign language will not be part of the candidacy exam. Credit hours earned in meeting language requirement will not count towards the 36 credit hours required for the MA degree.

Students should apply for graduation with the M.A. in African and African Diaspora Studies as soon as they have completed all requirements for the degree – including the exit requirements, as specified for the M.A. in African and African Diaspora Studies. Ordinarily, students will complete these requirements and earn their M.A. before advancing to candidacy for the Ph.D. in International Relations. The research paper/proposal option is the only option available for students enrolled in this combined M.A./Ph.D. program.
