

UNIVERSITY LIBRARIES

Uniquely positioned at the intersection of information, technology, and innovation, the University Libraries engage with local and global partners to foster student-centered learning and to support internationally recognized research. The Libraries are wonderful gathering places to pursue scholarly research, to learn about and use information technology, to write, to study, and to draw on a rich collection of print and electronic resources. Here you will find just about everything you need in order to collaborate and create new knowledge for the 21st century: over 2 million volumes, tens of thousands of movies and songs, maps, manuscripts, rare books, electronic books, microfilms, and some 400 online databases containing millions of articles from tens of thousands of online journals, newspapers, government reports, and more. You can access many of these resources right from home by tapping into our online books, streaming videos, journals, newspapers, historical documents, photographs, and other materials.

To help you with your research needs, our librarians will gladly assist you in person, by phone, by email, and by live chat and by SMS text, in collaboration with subject specialists and will work with you one-on-one showing you how to navigate the resources. The Libraries also offer wireless internet access, mobile devices, laptop checkout, late-night hours, high quality document scanning to email, study rooms, color photocopying and printing, group- and quiet-study- spaces, collaborative-learning areas, disability access, graduate-research carrels, and cafés. Have your computing questions answered at the University Technology Services desk and consult with skilled tutors at the Center for Excellence in Writing. The Libraries also house world-renowned digital collections including the Digital Library of the Caribbean, the Everglades Digital Library; state-of-the-art Geographic Information Systems (GIS) labs; the Latin American and Caribbean Center; and Special Collections. In addition, as an FIU student you have privileges at most other libraries in South Florida and all other Florida State University System libraries.

In keeping with FIU's core value--student-centered service--the Libraries are redesigning and renovating several prime service areas as technology hubs, complete with ubiquitous wireless computing, small-group presentation rooms, open area collaboration zones, flat-screen technology, HDTV media viewing and listening rooms, flexible modular furniture, and many other features designed to accommodate the way you collaborate, study, and use information throughout your university career and beyond.
